Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136 (a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 4-8, 10-11, 16 and 19-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's Admitted Prior Art in view of Fishley et al (US 5,786,631).

Regarding claims 1, 4-8, 10-11, 16, 19-21, Applicant's APA substantially disclosed the claimed invention in Figure 1, except the a notch or a slot located at position generally furthest from a neutral point of the connector and extending through a distal end of the peripheral wall of the housing from an inner face to an outer face of the peripheral wall.

Fishley et al disclose in Figure 2a-b, an electrical connector housing (24) comprising a notch (32) located only at location furthest from neutral point of the housing, the notch extending through a distal end of the peripheral wall from an inner face to an outer face.

Although Fishley et al do not specifically disclose the slot (32) is for the purpose of preventing warpage problem of the housing caused by thermal cycling. The structure, disclosed by Fishley et al, would inherently obtain the advantage of the slot being presents in the housing. Thus, it has a capable of preventing warpage of the housing.

Art Unit: : 2833

It would have been an obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to modify the connection housing of the Applicant's APA with a slot only at furthest location from a neutral point of the housing. It has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitation. Ex Parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).

3. Claims 12-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's Admitted Prior Art in view of Fishley et al (US 5,786,631) and further in view of McHugh et al (US 6,033,236).

Claims 12-15 are rejected for the same reason as above. Applicant's APA in view of Fishley et al substantially disclosed the claimed invention, except a process of determining a location of the housing which may build up stress.

McHugh et al disclose a portion of the housing (12) is remove at location where the passageway (18) are located. The portion that was removed defined an opened slot (38) that will prevent the warpage problem of the housing (Figures 5B and column 3, lines 13-22).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to remove a portion of the housing where the stress is high as taught by McHugh.
